UTAH SYMPHONY
TO PRESENT CONCERT
FEB. 23 AT UNIVERSITY

MISSOULA--

The Utah Symphony Orchestra, widely known for its concert tours and recordings, will appear in concert in the University of Montana Theater on Wednesday (Feb. 23).

The concert, scheduled for 8:15 p.m., will be conducted by Maurice Abravanel, who this year celebrates his 25th anniversary as musical director of the orchestra. The program highlights for the evening will include Brahms' Second Symphony and Stravinsky's "Firebird Suite," as well as works by Barber and J.C. Bach.

On Wednesday afternoon (Feb. 23), the principal members of the orchestra will offer master classes on their respective instruments, according to William Manning, acting chairman of the UM Department of Music. Manning said the classes, scheduled from 3 to 5 p.m. in the UM Music Building, will be open to the general public. A special invitation has been extended to public school music students to attend the concert.

The symphony's appearance is being sponsored by ASUM Program Council, with assistance from the National Endowment for the Arts. Tickets, on sale at the University Center Ticket Office and the Missoula Mercantile Record Shop, range in price from $2 to $4. All seats are reserved.
